UTF has a four-step program that provides employer-driven training for the afterschool and teaching workforce:

1. Community Outreach, Recruitment, and Assessment

   UTF recruits eligible participants who are passionate about teaching. All candidates must complete the following:
   - Assessment, including a basic skills test
   - Application
   - Personal Statement
   - Interview

2. Bridge and A.A. Degree

   Once accepted into the program, UTF participants complete a summer bridge program at Southwest College that includes basic skills building, career readiness, and wrap-around support services. Students continue on campus, receive wrap-around services, and obtain their A.A. degree.

3. Training and Placement in Afterschool Workforce

   Upon completion of the bridge program, UTF students complete afterschool skills training designed by employers to prepare students for employment. UTF connects students to employers to assist them in finding a job.

4. B.A. Degree and Teaching Credential

   After community college, students transfer to a CSU to complete their B.A. degree and teaching credentials. UTF provides support and tutoring for state exams, such as the CBEST.
